2016 VACo Achievement Award Gloucester Community “Needs Network”

OVERVIEW

The County of Gloucester, through the Gloucester Department of Community Education, collaborates with the Gloucester Resource Council, to facilitate and coordinate an electronic community “Needs Network.” The Gloucester Resource Council is a network of over 85 non-profit, community-based human service organizations, interested community members and business partners. (See enclosed list of members.) The council conducts a monthly networking meeting to share information, identify and meet community needs and reduce duplication of efforts. In an effort to find the most efficient and effective way to assist in meeting needs and providing resources, the Department of Community Education developed an electronic network to communicate, publicize and solicit assistance for any needs that were unable to be met through traditional avenues or normal processes.

The community “Needs Network” utilizes an email network delivering over 200 emails via an initial primary distribution. If needed, the network has the capacity to multiply to almost 8,000 email contacts through inter-organizational distribution lists to expand publicity and awareness of a specific request for assistance. Examples of a few of the requests processed and met in 2015 included: affordable or emergency housing, medical equipment, car donations/repairs, appliances/appliance repair, donated computers, and donated bicycle for primary transportation. (See enclosed list.)

Posting of a specific need must be made by an identifiable contact person with a community-based, non-profit organization, faith-based group, school or government agency. The contact person is responsible for ensuring the need is justified and facilitates coordination of service or resource being provided to the person in need.

BRIEF SUMMARY

Through the use of electronic communications, helping organizations in Gloucester County are quickly and efficiently able to provide assistance to community members having a specific unmet need through the community “Needs Network.” The “Needs Network” is an outreach of the Gloucester Resource Council and is facilitated by the Gloucester Department of Community Education. Electronic communications through the network reach a large number of helping organizations and individuals that review the requests and needs and offer resources, services and/or programs to assist. Through the community “Needs Network” forty (40) specific requests for needed services and resources were received and processed in 2015. A few examples include affordable or emergency housing, medical equipment, car donations/repairs, appliance donations/repairs, a computer donation, denture assistance, and a bicycle donation for primary transportation.

PROBLEM/CHALLENGE/SITUATION:

The identified challenge faced by the many individuals and organizations interested in helping those in need, is that sometimes there is no existing or known program or service to provide for a recognized need, and no system to effectively and efficiently communicate unmet needs to a large number of helping organizations and individuals quickly. In addition, even when existing services and programs do exist, the resource is not always known by those attempting to help others. The community “Needs Network” solves many of these challenges by simply using technology to communicate to a large number of community helpers in an efficient and expeditious manner.

INNOVATION

The community “Needs Network” is innovative in the use of technology and electronic communications to more effectively and efficiently publicize unmet needs and through a coordinated system of collaboration to provide for services and resources. An additional benefit gained from the “Needs Network” system is by having unmet needs be communicated through one network, groupings or clusters of unmet needs, services and programs are identified, thus serving as an informal needs assessment.

PARTNERSHIP/COLLABORATION

The community “Needs Network” is an excellent example of partnerships and collaboration. Through the technology resources of the local government, public information and involvement mission of the Gloucester Department of Community Education, and the extensive network of resources available through the Gloucester Resource Council, organizations work together, in an efficient manner, to communicate, coordinate and meet the needs of community members.

MODEL

The process and procedure of the community “Needs Network” can be duplicated in any locality by identifying and compiling basic contact information of the government, schools, faith-based and community organizations that are interested in working together to establish an email/electronic network of communications. Many localities already have existing directories and/or contacts of human service agencies, community organizations and faith-based groups, through agencies such as United Way. The contacts can be used to establish the electronic network of communications needed. Administering the “Needs Network” process involves designating a “Needs Network” manager and central referral source to receive, review, confirm legitimate source and contact, and send requests through the email network.

IMPLEMENTATION/FINANCING/STAFFING

The Department of Community Education serves as the designated manager of the “Needs Network” with one staff person receiving, reviewing and posting the requests on email to the master distribution list. Time involved is minimal and there are no direct costs other than minimal staff time.

PROGRAM RESULTS

During 2015, forty (40) requests for needed services and resources were received and processed through the community “Needs Network.” A listing of specific needs that were publicized and met is included in this application packet.

Two of the 40 success stories to help demonstrate the effectiveness of the “Needs Network:”

(1) Because of a request to assist a homeless individual, who frequented the winter shelter and who was battling terminal cancer, individuals and organizations donated to an account to provide support services, not covered by other means, to the individual in need.

(2) The only vehicle (a van) of a family of seven (7) broke down and the family did not have enough money for repair. Less than two hours after the email request went out, a community organization that has an auto mechanic as a member of their board, volunteered to repair the vehicle.
