SURPLUS PROPERTY PROGRAM

Serving Government. Serving Virginians.

The Office of Surplus Property Management (OSPM) is a part of the Department of General Services (DGS). OSPM manages the distribution and allocation of usable state and federal surplus property, and services state agencies, local governments, counties, schools, eligible nonprofits and small businesses (SBA). The office also assists state government agencies with the disposal of their surplus property. There are two convenient warehouse locations in Richmond and Wytheville, and citizens of the Commonwealth can also shop for surplus at the new OSPM retail store located in Wytheville.
