Now celebrating its 20th anniversary, AIS Network takes businesses and governments to the cloud. AISN is the premier provider of eGov hosting services to the Commonwealth of Virginia. We also serve federal, state and local governments as well as major corporations and other large enterprises throughout North America.

Few IT companies can claim the title of “hosting pioneer,” and AISN claims it proudly. We have been recognized as a leader in the managed hosting industry for two decades.

The company was founded in 1993, before the commercial Internet took off. In the early days, AISN performed site networking, application development and client network support. As Internet adoption spiked, we cultivated a specialty in customized managed hosting services – and our company took off. Our reputation for reliability and incomparable client support helped us to become a leader in today’s hosting industry.

Today, AISN delivers dependable, 100 percent SLA-guaranteed, SSAE 16 Type II-compliant managed hosting for mission-critical applications, data and online businesses. Our hosting clients typically have extremely demanding customization, security, compliance and responsiveness requirements—especially those in the government, health care, pharma and financial services industries. Making them happy is our specialty.

Unlike many cloud hosting companies, AISN personalizes client service at every level. Our high standards of responsiveness inspire full confidence that mission-critical data, applications and email are in reliable hands.

NXL is a leading group of talented transportation engineers, surveyors, and construction managers who provide their clients with services of the highest caliber.

When I founded NXL in 1989, I vowed to provide “Excellence” in everything we do. That’s why I framed the letter “X”, for “eXcellence” in the center of our company name. It is that pledge for excellence that has transformed NXL into a company with over 100 talented employees providing services on world-class projects throughout the United States and abroad.

What does “Excellence” mean? Our employees know the answer. It means our complete commitment to our clients and our clients’ interests. It means giving our clients much more than they expect. It means that, next time, our clients will think first of NXL.

And that is not a small task. Because although many firms do what we do, our clients tell us that NXL does it better. They become a repeat client. They write unsolicited letters praising our employee’s work. And they refer our firm to others.

That is why, today, many years later, at NXL we are more committed than ever to our original mission to:

- Present our clients with a service that exceeds their expectations for quality, reliability of delivery, and cost.
- Always look out for our client's best interest.
- Maintain the highest professional and ethical standards.

To continue achieving these goals, NXL will continue to embrace the newest technologies, persist on offering the best training for Personnel, and commit to hiring the most talented individuals who also share our mission

As our company continues to grow, I can assure you that NXL will never sacrifice quality for growth’s sake. That is because quality service is what made NXL what we are today and only quality and our unwavering commitment to excellence and to our clients will fuel NXL’s growth tomorrow.

“I want to make a difference, I know our Board of Supervisors works very hard, but are we really creating real lasting results for the citizens?”

You as a county Supervisor ran for office, because you want to make a difference and create lasting results. Once elected and on a Board of Supervisors, it can become challenging as your views and vision are now mixed with the views and vision of the rest of the Supervisors on the board. Many ask: What can we do about this? How can we get things done?

Clear Vision and Direction Critical to the Success of the County

Developing a clear vision and direction for your county is essential. (Developing direction, along with the role of approving a budget, and the supervision of chief administrator, is the Board’s central role.) The Direction is needed to create lasting results and is also needed for the success of the other roles.

- Without a clear vision and direction, how will budget decisions be made responsibly?
- Without a clear vision and direction, how will your chief administrator lead and manage?

This clear direction is stronger when supported by an overall road map, so your chief administrator can provide needed expertise, and “can drive the car” in the direction of the road map.

The Aycock Group -- Extensive Experience Helping Counties Create Clear Direction

The Aycock Group has broad successful experience helping local governments and nonprofits develop clear direction with a road map. The Aycock Group has over 40 years of experience. We provide strategic planning, board retreats, board development, economic development and conflict resolution.

The Aycock Group has successfully worked with many local governments on the Virginia border including Vance County, Warren County, and Northampton County as well as across the state of North Carolina such as Buncombe County, the City of Havelock, the Town of Weaverville, and the Town of Smithfield. We are excited that we are expanding into Virginia.

Chris Aycock, the President of The Aycock Group has extensive strategic planning, board development, economic development, and conflict resolution experience. He is skilled in nationally respected facilitation approaches. He is published. Prior to founding The Aycock Group, he worked in management positions in the public sector. He has a Master’s Degree in Public Administration.

Ron Aycock, senior associate is the retired Executive Director of the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners.

The Berkley Group's dedication to, and experience with, public service brings a fresh and unique perspective for our clients. We pride ourselves on providing superior customer service by understanding the daily challenges facing communities.

Helping localities achieve their goals is a passion for the Berkley Group's founders – Darren Coffey and Drew Williams. When they collaboratively formed The Berkley Group in 2010, they did so with the belief that local government's resources are shrinking while expectations for delivering real-world results are greater than ever before.

The LOSAP Group

RECRUITMENT AND RETENTION

The volunteer fire and EMT service is a longstanding tradition in the United States that often encompasses families' generation after generation. Unfortunately, it is also a tradition in danger of weakening and possibly even dying out. Incentive programs are used throughout the volunteer fire and EMT service as a retention tool. They are necessary to help recruit and retain volunteers. Among the most important, widely used, and growing incentives for volunteers are retirement plans. In most instances, they are called Length of Service Award Programs (LOSAP).

HOW SERVICE AWARD PROGRAMS WORK

Under a LOSAP, volunteers earn pension-like benefits by performing activities such as attending drills and training sessions and responding to emergency calls. In many LOSAPs, each activity is assigned a certain number of points as prescribed in state specific LOSAP legislation. Upon accumulating a specified minimum number of points each year, the firefighter is entitled to a financial benefit, or Service Award. It is generally believed that this financial incentive has been useful in helping fire and EMT departments retain more active volunteers.

TWO TYPES OF SERVICE AWARD PROGRAMS

Under a defined contribution plan, an amount not to exceed $3000 for each active volunteer is contributed each year to a program trust fund. When a volunteer reaches the entitlement age, he or she has a lump sum equal to the amounts that were contributed to his or her account each year plus investment earnings. Payouts are typically lump sum, but other payout options can be built into the plan such as monthly payments.

Conversely, a defined benefit plan provides a stated benefit upon retirement, such as $20 per month, per year of active service. Once the entitlement age is reached, a volunteer receives monthly payments during his or her lifetime. Typically, a guaranteed pay period is provided such as a 10-year certain, which provides income to the firefighter or surviving spouse for the minimum stated period.

THE SERVICE AWARD PROGRAM APPROPRIATE FOR YOU

We would welcome the opportunity to work with you from the beginning to help you design a program specifically for your department or community.

WHY CHOOSE US?

Who have we done this for?

Local fire departments, counties, cities, towns and villages that sponsor local fire department LOSAPs, state fire associations on behalf of their state's first responders, and national organizations.

Why do we do what we do?

Recruitment and retention of volunteers remains a major concern for communities nationwide. Providing benefits to volunteers as a retention and recruitment tool is an idea that is receiving great attention as an effective tool for supporting first responders.

What makes us different?

Our consultative team approach enables you to decide what type of program and which benefits will best suit your volunteers. Additionally, we believe in providing ongoing information and education you can rely upon.

Other benefits we provide you:

Monthly statements, quarterly performance reporting and asset summaries, bond maturity and income reports, Internet access, direct toll free number, no long-term contracts, complete liquidity, transferability and flexibility in handling your LOSAP investments without substantial upfront or redemption fees.

Our mission is to exceed customers' expectations and secure their future by offering professional advice, education, and value added service with a personal touch. Our highest priority is the customers' needs...and through this, we will maintain our vision to be the customers' first and best choice in the products and services we provide.

Our vision is to develop long lasting relationships within the community and to remain focused on the customers' best interests at heart, which we will demonstrate by way of our conduct and our valued products and services. Our commitment is to the customer...whose needs will determine our path.

VISION: All Virginians have opportunities to work.

VALUES: Leadership, Collaboration founded in trust, Commitment to excellence, Flexibility and innovation that make Goodwill competitive, Transparent, Respectful communication

The Virginia Goodwill Network (VGN) was established in May, 2007 as a consortium of six regional Goodwill organizations that provide workforce development programs and services to tens of thousands of Virginians each year.

The members represent all areas of Virginia: Goodwill of Greater Washington (Northern Virginia); Horizon Goodwill, Hagerstown, MD (Winchester area); Goodwill Industries of the Valleys (headquartered in Roanoke, serving Western, Central, and Southside, VA); Goodwill Industries (headquartered in Richmond, serving the communities of Hampton Roads and central Virginia); Rappahannock Goodwill Industries(Fredericksburg); and Danville Goodwill Industries(Danville).*

The organization was formed with the vision that all Virginians should have the opportunity to work. The goal is to serve unemployed or underemployed persons by forging and strengthening partnerships within the business communities and public policy organizations of our state.

VGN exists to identify the labor needs of businesses; collaboratively provide training programs to support those needs; develop clear and comprehensive reports of its program outcomes; and provide continuous evaluation of persons in need. These initiatives ensure development of programs designed to serve the most significant number of Virginians.

Our website supports VGN's overarching objectives: a greater understanding of the programs and services that we offer so we may better serve all Virginians. As you tour this website, you will learn Goodwill is more than a major thrift store retailer. Our retail stores serve to fund our true mission: helping others overcome obstacles to employment so they may find their purpose, reach their highest level of self sufficiency, and become productive members of our community.

* Virginia locations west of Wytheville are served by Goodwill Industries of Tennesse area, which is not currently a VGN member, but is affiliated with VGN programs.
