

Visit Powhatan County and the Historic District in the Courthouse Village

According to Economic Development Director Sherry Swinson, one of Powhatan County's top tourism draws is the Historic District in the Courthouse Village. The site is listed on the National Register.

The Village features a wide variety of tourist attractions, all connected by meandering sidewalks, including: a museum, three restaurants, unique shopping, walking and nature trails, Civil War Trails site, retirement community called Scottville (for citizens 55 years and older), historic structures and a bed and breakfast inn. Plus, there is an associated 3-hour driving tour of Powhatan County that sweeps through the historic Village!

According to Swinson, the County's economic development plan calls for "transforming the Courthouse area into an arts-centric tourist destination featuring upscale boutiques, niche retail, fine restaurants, B&B's and inns."

Come to Powhatan County and visit the Historic District in the Courthouse Village!
